The partnership was forged after a donation was made to aid in their programming and community initiatives. As a believer in whole earth health, True Organic's support comes with a deep appreciation for the impact of the foundation on communities affected by war.

"The opportunity to support the work that the Gary Sinise Foundation is doing with our veterans, makes us proud. We look forward to the greater good that will continue to happen as a result," said, Jake Evans, Founder of True Organic.
