When I was a seeker, I wanted to find the way out from emptiness, sense of guilt, and loneliness. I felt like I was locked in a small dark shell of a caterpillar.”

overcoming despair and learning how to draw strength from the Lord's power. Finally, Choi's enlightening book shows us how to discover hope in the midst of adversity, the grace to forgive others, and strength through the Lord's power.

Choi also spent 21 years as a US Army Chaplain, including time as a community pastor for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) between 1997 and 1999. In a statement about what inspired him to write "Hope From the Garden of Eden to The End of the Patmos Island", Choi said:

"When I was a seeker, I wanted to find the way out from emptiness, sense of guilt, and loneliness. I felt like I was locked in a small dark shell of a caterpillar. One day, I was hospitalized because I had a severe burn on my head and shoulder. I was unconscious for about two weeks and had severe pain. I felt like needles were penetrating into the skin of my skull. While I was in pain, I realized that Christ died for me. I saw in my dream that Christ went through the pain on the cross for me. I could have related the deep pain of Christ since I felt the sharp pain in my body. More importantly, I realized that His pain was to forgive my sin, all sins of humans: to save and to give new life. I believe that realization came to me by the Holy Spirit. After that experience, my soul was like a butterfly that just came out from a caterpillar, which transformed into a new creation."
