

Business Reporter: Sustainable projects, sustainably funded

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, March 9, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- At Astarte we're passionate about investing in sustainable real asset sectors. Our primary focus is to provide institutional investors with access to specialist real asset strategies that are supported by macroeconomic trends that will shape the economy for years to come, including climate change, population growth, demographic shifts and resource scarcity. These strategies are built with Astarte's investment in partnership with experienced operating teams and emerging managers with proven track records in the targeted asset classes.

The Astarte team collectively brings together more than 300 years of asset management and investment fund structuring and formation experience, earned across three strategic locations: London, Sydney and Toronto. We seek to identify specialist areas of real assets in the core plus/value-add spectrum that are often difficult to access, either because of scale or complexity, and form partnerships with specialist operating experts to deliver the respective investment strategy and offer investors attractive returns.

In this video we talk about how we find ways of funding sustainable projects more efficiently and support the sustainable real assets of the future, and how we are fully aligned with our investors through our innovative strategy, and provide detail on two of our key projects: the SAIFF reforestation project in Latin America in partnership with Silvipar, and the urban regeneration project at Shepherd's Bush Market, London, in partnership with Yoo Capital.
