cultivated a loyal following of history, science, education, and museum enthusiasts. The expansion from a documentary television series to a multi-faceted educational program has been part of the company's vision from the onset. The website offers free downloadable educational fun sheets, coloring pages, and conversation sheets. The 3-part downloadable Classroom Series is available for select episodes based on Common Core & Next Generation Science Standards for teachers, parents, and homeschoolers.

"We know that many school-age children do not have access to field trips or other opportunities to visit many of the wonderful museums we explore in our series. We provide everyone with an opportunity to virtually travel to the museums and go behind the scenes with me to learn from the experts. It is a crucial part of our mission." says Mueller.
