Antifungals industry trends include drug developers and manufacturers are scaling up the various departments such as research and development, marketing, and manufacturing through collaborations and strategic partnerships with other companies and research institutes, to expand the product portfolios. So, companies in the anti-infective drugs market should consider strategic collaborations to broaden their scope and product portfolios to increase the revenues and drive the antifungals market growth.

The global antifungals market size is expected to grow from $26.76 billion in 2021 to $30.94 billion in 2022 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 15.6%. The growth in the market is mainly due to the companies rearranging their operations and recovering from the COVID-19 impact, which had earlier led to restrictive containment measures involving social distancing, remote working, and the closure of commercial activities that resulted in operational challenges. The global antifungals market share is then expected to reach $51.67 billion in 2026 at a CAGR of 13.7%.
