Watkins Construction & Roofing, an industry leader in roofing and renovation services, celebrated the grand opening of its newest location, the Watkins Warehouse at 218 N Wheatley Street in Ridgeland, on February 22, 2022. The celebration was attended by local dignitaries such as Mayor Gene McGee, City of Ridgeland Chamber, Madison County Chamber, and Greater Jackson Chamber Partnership.

The 45,000 square-foot building is home to the Watkins Production Team along with all the company’s state-of-the-art roofing supplies, materials, and custom metal operations, allowing them to be closer to their customers throughout the state. This new facility in Ridgeland reflects the company’s commitment to the local community and the state of Mississippi. “This is where it all happens,” said Watkins Construction & Roofing Owner, Michael Dier. “Our mission is to be the best in class at what we do; keeping this team right here in Ridgeland allows us to see that mission through. The reason for the move? Just one word: better access. This new facility will not only make it easier for our customers to get access to the products they need but also for their team members and local community members to interact with them.”

The Watkins Warehouse in Ridgeland is another step in the company’s evolution as one of the area’s most trusted roofing and construction companies. The addition of this facility will allow Watkins Construction to increase its production capability and streamline its processes, making the company faster and more efficient than ever before.
