"We understand there are many options out there, and searching for your water system can, at times, be overwhelming," says Erika Chavez, a spokesperson for Purity Bay-East. "Not only that, but the water treatment industry has a reputation for having unethical sales representatives and companies that are unwilling to honor their agreements. Here at Purity Bay, we do things differently. We have built this company with ethical principles that put our customers first instead of maximizing profits or selling inferior products that lead to more service issues. It is humbling to be awarded with an Angi Super Service Award and be recognized for our superior work to ensure client satisfaction, each and every time."

Purity Bay-East has been on Angi since 2021. This is the first year Purity Bay-East has received this honor.
