Choosing Between Renting or Buying A Property:

Relocating will inevitably involve a property transaction. BrightPath Caribbean's sister company, Bright Future Realty can offer you options to suit by neighborhood, budget, and lifestyle. For people seeking residency by investment, at BrightPath we often recommend obtaining residency first and then purchasing a property. This often makes the transition more stable and opens up banking options more readily for most prospective buyers. However, if you find a great deal on a property, BrightPath's partners at BrightFuture Realty can support you in your real estate ventures from start to finish.

However, tax advisors will remind you that for tax purposes, the minimum age for retirement benefits is 50 years. So, what does this mean for you? Before making the move, define your intended lifestyle whether it's semi or full retirement or a new business venture altogether. We can support your immigration, business set-up, or banking services depending on what your plans are in the next stage of life.

Creating A Strategic Tax Plan:

Cross-border taxes can become a costly (if not, messy) mistake to clean up if you don't get your researched and verified facts in line before executing a plan. We recommend a paid, tailored consultation with an independent tax attorney. There are several knowledgeable and experienced tax professionals to choose from that will take various factors into consideration before helping you devise a plan.

Some of the key factors to consider include recommended tax and corporate structure to support your current asset base and manage your tax exposure.
