The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) lists a number of health effects that can be caused by mold exposure including: stuffy nose, coughing or wheezing, sore throat, and even burning eyes or skin rash. The CDC warns that people with asthma or mold allergies could experience severe reactions. In addition, CDC warns that people who are immune-compromised or have chronic lung disease can potentially get lung infections from mold.

Scott Armstrong, Business Operations Manager of A&A Mold and Allergy Investigations, stated, "For more than a decade, we have built a strong reputation of providing honest answers as well as serving our community with integrity and superior customer service. Our reviews demonstrate our commitment to customers. That's why customers rely on and trust our mold inspections in Encinitas and throughout San Diego County."
