DALLAS, TEXAS, USA, March 24, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Aviation Week Network's Annual Military Aviation, Logistics and Maintenance Symposium (#MALMS) will be held April 27-28 at the Kay Bailey Hutchison Convention Center in Dallas. The event is co-located with MRO Americas, (#MROAM), the world's largest aviation MRO event.

Collaboration between industry, small businesses, academia and the government is key for increasing materiel readiness and ensuing air dominance, and our conference brings all of the players together.”

Sarah Zilonis, Conference Producer for Aviation Week Network.

MALMS is a dynamic forum for members of the U.S. military and commercial aerospace industry to discuss process improvements and operational readiness concerns regarding aircraft maintenance, logistics, and sustainment capabilities development. Attendees will be privy to relevant and real-time perspectives into the military's logistics and aircraft sustainment concerns, current acquisition processes and requirements for modernization from the people leading the charge for innovation from all branches of the U.S. military and the U.S. Department of Defense.

“Collaboration between industry, small businesses, academia and the government is key for increasing materiel readiness and ensuing air dominance, and our conference brings all of the players together,” said Sarah Zilonis, Conference Producer for Aviation Week Network.

Admission is free for all branches or active-duty and reserve members of the United States Armed Forces and Department of Defense (DOD) civilian employees. The event includes a sold-out Military Pavilion exhibition hall and two days of high-level speakers, along with ample opportunities for networking. A full agenda can be found here.

MALMS Industry Sponsors are: AAR, Boeing, Elbit Systems of America, HEICO, L3 Harris, M1 Composites Technologies, StandardAero, and Summit Aerospace. The event is supported by the Logistics Officers Association.

MALMS is co-located with MRO Americas
