cloud security services offerings delivered from the Asia Pacific Global Delivery Centers of Excellence. Their digital leaders help organizations seamlessly transform holistically across the entire value chain. As a partner of choice to some of the world's largest enterprises, CGI understands the increasing digital demands of organizations and the need to partner with clients and an ecosystem of partners to build future-ready digital solutions and deliver on business outcomes. UnifyCloud looks forward to seeing CGI help organizations move to cloud and modernize their application portfolios and deliver new products and services at pace and scale, while protecting data and privacy, complying with regulation, and mitigating risk, through the power of our partnership.

“CGI and the CloudAtlas platform are a perfect match. CGI provides the experience and expertise to help clients see the potential of digital transformation while the CloudAtlas platform's automation accelerates the entire process – from infrastructure assessment to app and database analysis to migration, cloud security, and optimization – to make it fast, easy, and efficient for CGI and the client,” Marc Pinotti, CEO and Co-Founder of UnifyCloud, said. “This gives CGI and its clients clarity and certainty about the requirements needed to migrate, the cost savings they will achieve via migration and their best roadmap to the cloud.”

Together, CGI and UnifyCloud will enable organizations to analyze, assess and take on modernization and cloud migration more efficiently, helping them minimize risks and optimize IT efficiency.

“As organizations seek new ways to deliver seamless services from their core systems to modern customer-facing apps, on-premises and in the cloud, our expertise together with CloudAtlas suite of automation tools will help move the right workloads to the cloud and balance value and risk at every step in the client’s transformation to accelerate their business outcomes,” said Rahul Ghodke, Senior Vice-President, Asia Pacific Global Delivery Centers of Excellence, CGI.
