How the mafia infiltrated wall street and the schemes of other fraudsters around the world that are continuing their schemes racking in millions from unsuspecting investors.”

The truth will set you free

At the age of 76, Steve Bazsuly can honestly say he’s seen it all. “I’ve seen the good, the bad and the very ugly in life,” Bazsuly says. In his new biographical exposé, Bazsuly relates his life story beginning with childhood, followed by his career moves and association with the Mafia and many other national and international criminals. His involvement in several real estate deals resulted in criminal convictions and two separate jail sentences. “I have climbed the ladder of success and hit rock bottom many times, only to get up and take another crack at life,” Bazsuly says.

In “The Mafia Helped Me Lose 400 Million Dollars”, Bazsuly relates his firsthand dealings with major crime families, politicians, and high-profile businessman and personalities, including many of the players involved in the FBI’s King’s Court sting operation depicted in the film “Donnie Brasco”, famed attorney F. Lee Bailey and his client O.J. Simpson, and even former President Donald Trump. Drawing from a cache of over 3,000 documents, Bazsuly lays out how the Mafia controlled the brokerage business. He shares how an FBI bust of his publicly traded company
