Market size: USD 12.59 Billion in 2020, Market Growth: CAGR of 7.8%, Market Trends: Technological advancements & growing adoption of point-of-care CMP testing

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, March 28, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The global Comprehensive Metabolic Panel \(CMP\) Testing market size is expected to reach USD 22.97 billion by 2028 and register a CAGR of 7.8% according to the latest report by Reports and Data. Rising prevalence of chronic diseases, such as kidney diseases, diabetes, liver dysfunctions, and growing research on developing innovative products are key factors driving global market revenue growth.

Comprehensive metabolic panel testing is a blood test that measures 14 different types of substances for analyzing body mechanisms and various parameters, such as kidney and liver health, blood protein and sugar levels, body fluid balance, and electrolyte levels. Increasing cases of chronic conditions and rising prevalence of lifestyle-associated diseases such as obesity or hypertension due to smoking, lack of exercise, and sedentary lifestyle are primarily boosting demand for comprehensive metabolic panel testing systems. In addition, growing adoption of point-of-care CMP testing and rising number of biopsy processes are expected to further enhance revenue growth. Moreover, increasing initiatives taken by government to create awareness about diseases and treatment for chronic diseases are fueling market growth.

However, factors, such as implementation of strict regulations and high possibility of fast results due to dearth of skilled professionals, are expected to hamper growth of the global comprehensive metabolic panel testing market during the forecast period.
