When you have a workplace that makes employees feel like they can succeed and really excel in their field, it makes for better business all around,"

Brendan Hahn, Sr Director of Marketing and Sales company, announced today that it was recognized for five Best Places to Work Awards by Comparably: Best Company Outlook, Best Places to Work in Salt Lake City, Best Product and Design Teams, Best Operations Team, and Best Sales Teams. The company was recognized alongside other top national companies like HubSpot, Marriott, and Adobe.

Since its founding in 2014, Blue Raven Solar's management team has made a continuous effort to create a workplace culture that cultivates respect, trust, teamwork, initiative, and other characteristics that make up a great place to work for all departments and team members. The core mission and values provide employees with guidelines and tools to maintain the culture and thrive within it.

The company has also been recognized for its myriad of career growth opportunities, superb work-life balance, and other cultural achievements through past Comparably awards and other recognitions, including Glassdoor's Best Places to Work in 2021 and the Salt Lake Tribune's Top Workplaces. Blue Raven Solar has also been recognized for its rapid company growth by the Utah Business Magazine's Fast 50, the Inc 5000, and the Financial Times The Americas' Fastest Growing Companies of 2021.

"Blue Raven Solar's five Comparably Awards this quarter is a testament to the company's focus on its people and the bright outlook it has for the year ahead," said Comparably CEO Jason Nazar. "We congratulate the organization's leadership for its continued commitment to providing a worthwhile workplace culture."

The Comparably Awards for Best Places to Work rankings are based on anonymous ratings from employees during a 12-month period (March 2021 through March 2022) in multiple areas of company culture. There were no fees or costs associated with participating, nor was nomination required. To qualify, large companies (500+ employees) must have met a minimum of 75 employee participants. Additional weight was given to companies with more employee participation, for statistical significance. The final data set was compiled from 10 million ratings across 60,000 U.S. companies.
