About Quri Vodka

QURI is an award-winning premium Peruvian vodka made with quinoa sourced from a single-family farm (resting in the shadows of the glacier covered Andes that trickle into Lake Titicaca and a dormant volcano) and ancient Andean glacier water filtered through volcanic stone made in micro-45 gallon batches. The spirit of QURI vodka is one of respect. Respect for the people and land that have been producing the greatest quinoa in the world for over 5,000 years. And respect for the painstaking process of distilling fine premium spirits. Quri is the love of a people, so we've pledged 5% of net profits to help impoverished young women receive support to survive and thrive from the daily necessities to education all the way through university; one girl at a time.
