About Moore Motivated

Dave Moore is a former Coast Guard Search & Rescue Pilot and Air Force combat pilot. As a teenager, all Dave wanted to do was become a professional pilot. He drove hard for his passion and engulfed his life in everything aviation. After experiencing his first plane crash that nearly took his life at 23, he became incredibly afraid to fly an aircraft or even board a commercial airliner without becoming intoxicated. Paralyzed by fear from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), Dave faced an ending to his aviation career. Years after Dave took a job and successfully accomplished his first Outside Sales position and thought 'what am I doing? I need to be in the sky!' There again revisited his passion for aviation and has achieved/received Navy and Air Force Wings, became a military officer in both the Air Force and Coast Guard, graduated with the highest NSS (Navy Standard Score) of all Navy Squadrons, among many other esteemed accolades while overcoming his battle with Post Traumatic Stress (PTS) and unlocking the keys to overcoming any challenge on your path. Remove the boundaries, remove the 'disorders' and remove the limitations that we place on ourselves and you will find success personally and professionally.

Dave Moore is an inspirational national speaker. He shares a strong message that if you are aware of who you are, what you stand for, and what you commit to accomplish, your life will be a lot more meaningful and happier. And, at any point in your life, you can change your mind-set and become the person you want to be.
