Our top priority continues to be delivering exemplary service experiences to DIY Party Hosts and their Guests, while providing the best means for top F&B Pros to participate in the Gig Economy."

"We underestimated the effect of the COVID Omicron Variant and as a result, experienced a significant slow-down in Event Bookings this past quarter. We believe this was a one-off occurance in response to Customer concerns about entertaining at home during the recent pandemic upsurge. We expect revenue growth to resume during the new quarter, as bookings are already returning to expected levels and Customers adapt to living with COVID." said Robert Smith, President & Master Sommelier.

He added "Our top priority continues to be delivering exemplary service experiences to Do-it-Yourself Party Hosts and their Guests, while providing the best means for top Food & Beverage Professionals to participate in the Gig Economy."
