The increase in demand from consumers worldwide is encouraging the manufacturers to bring innovations in the product utilities. Paper diapers are specifically designed with ultrasonic vibrations to retain the body fluids. This involves a multi-step purpose and high-input technology.

The surge in birth rates and increase in aging population drive the market growth. Lack of technical barrier provides opportunities to the potential manufactures to enter the global market. The adult population faces self-esteem issues regarding the use of diapers that hamper the growth of paper diapers in the adult segment.

The launch of new products with improved capabilities are introduced in the market by leading market players so as to fulfil the customer requirement. This is done in accordance with consumer convenience. The material used in diaper plays an important role in driving the demand for the product.

The paper diapers are made by a multi-step process in which the vacuum-formed absorbent pad is attached with permeable sheets at the top and bottom to absorb and retain the body fluids. With the use of technology, manufacturers were able to make a product that is affordable, comfortable, and reliable. The market produces different diapers for babies as well as for adults and these are available in different sizes to suit a range of customers. The ease in application and the congenial attributes of the product propels the customers to increase demand and make purchase.
