cutting-edge video lessons and related assessment material, Samantha Rhea guides students through a wide range of topics and clinical scenarios.

A new level of learning for nursing students

Rhonda Lawes, Director of Nursing Education at Lecturio: “Mastering clinical nursing skills is one of the core components of nursing education. Our fundamental skills course sets a new standard in nursing education, using both video and assessment material to actively engage student nurses in real-life clinical settings. It’s a significant addition to our comprehensive library of learning materials and courses.”

More than 170 concise, easy-to-follow videos

Lecturio's Fundamental Clinical Skills for Nurses comprises more than 170 concise, easy-to-follow videos covering a wide range of topics, from hand hygiene to wound care to medication administration and much more. Recall quizzes with spaced retrieval test students' understanding and empower active learning and memorization. Key learning objectives keep students on track while they learn, and online student events and mobile apps let nursing students connect directly with peers and educators, and study on-the-go.
