

Prenatal Testing Market Emergen Growth, Size, Forecast, Key Players and Competitive Landscape Research Report

Prenatal Testing Market Size – USD 3.23 billion in 2019, Market Growth - CAGR of 12.9 %, Market Trends – The rise in the reimbursement scenario's enhancement.

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, April 5, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The increased chance of chromosome defects with increased maternal age and the growing awareness in developing countries of prenatal testing is driving the demand for the market. The global Prenatal Testing Market is forecasted to be worth USD

8.08 Billion by 2027, according to a current analysis by Emergen Research. Over the forecasted period, the global Prenatal Testing market is anticipated to grow rapidly due to the growing chance of chromosome defects with rising maternal age. Per year about 10.0% to 15.0% of clinically reported pregnancies end in miscarriage, and chromosome defects are found in around 50.0 %. In addition, increasing awareness of the advantages of enhanced testing procedures is expected to stimulate market growth during the forecasted period. Besides, the rising enhancement in reimbursement scenario in prenatal testing is likely to fuel the market growth in the forecasted period.

It is expected that during the forecasted timeline, the lack of skilled professionals and high-cost testing procedures will hinder the market growth.

Leading companies profiled in the report are:

Quest Diagnostics, GeneDx, Inc., Natera, Inc., Illumina, Inc., Ravgen Inc., Prenatal Paternities Inc., Ariosa Diagnostics, Inc., Eurofins NTD Inc., Counsyl, Inc., and LabCorp, among others.

Some Key Highlights from the Report

The largest market will be held by the non-invasive segment during the forecasted timeframe. The benefit of non-invasive testing is lessened pain, shorter clinical stays, low chance of infection, quick healing, and limited blood loss.

In January 2020, Blueprint Genetics Oy acquired by Quest Diagnostics. The incorporation of Blueprint Genetics will extend and improve the genetic Quest Value Proposition, providing its accelerated development agenda.

Over the forecasted timeframe, the ultrasound segment is expected to hold the largest market with a CAGR of 13.2%. Ultrasound prenatal testing is a more secure and pain-free procedure that uses sound waves to generate images that show the infant's condition and position.

It is expected that the diagnostic center segment will lead the market. The development is due to forces such as initiatives to provide accurate and effective paternity tests and the rising incidence of chromosomal abnormalities.

Due to the increased expenditure on medical services, the demand for invasive and non-invasive diagnosis, and raising genetic syndrome occurrence, North America is expected to lead the market during the forecasted period.
