Austin Adventures is also announcing its own industry recognition. Austin Adventures features many global family and small group trips, including Yellowstone National Park.

The Editor's Picks were chosen by Publisher/Editor-in-Chief Ken Shapiro and the entire editorial team of TravelAge West. Review methods included product analysis, on-site visits and a survey of a select group of travel advisors and industry experts.

With this distinction, Editor's Pick honorees are also in the running for a WAVE Award, to be determined by a TravelAge West readers' choice poll conducted during the month of April. The voting is open to readers of the print and online publication and will be available on TravelAge West's website.
