About DCM and CAF

DCM, a fund manager located in La Jolla, CA, focuses primarily on managing investment portfolios of digital currencies and related assets. CAF is open to investment by U.S.-accredited investors and other qualified individuals and institutions, with a minimum investment of $100,000, and generally offers monthly subscription and redemption opportunities. Class X is reserved for prior investors and is closed to new investments. However, given the success of Class X, CAF launched Class F this year, which follows a similar, but, in our opinion, improved, strategy. Class F is a quasi-fixed-income share class, with staking and mining (like Class X) as well as yield farming and lending.

CFR uses its Performance Database to determine award winners. Winners are selected based on performance data, net of fees, provided to CFR for the various award categories. Access to the performance database and individual fund returns is restricted to accredited investors and qualified clients.
