

Law Firm Stinson LLP replaces EOS.Web from SirsiDynix with Soutron

Stinson's new "Collections and Connections" Soutron portal delivers legal knowledge to 450 lawyers across the U.S.A.

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, April 5, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- International library, archives, information, and knowledge management solutions market leader Soutron Global announces that law firm Stinson LLP has replaced legacy system EOS.Web from Sirsi Dynix with Soutron.

With a decreasing physical collection and increasing use of digital materials, Systems and Knowledge Management Manager Brian McCann saw the need for the creation of a new knowledge portal that would enable practice groups to quickly find the exact online resources they needed. By upgrading their Integrated Library System (ILS) to Soutron, Stinson was able to provide their lawyers with a much more efficient and effective knowledge portal, easing information access for their lawyers while helping the library team members work smarter and more efficiently.

The firm's new single-source 'Collections and Connections' Soutron portal provides quick links to saved searches for each practice group along with links to intranet pages developed for each practice group. Additionally, McCann created links to curated resources that the firm's lawyers' access on a regular basis, such as WestLaw and LexisNexis, forming a powerful knowledge management portal that the firm's lawyers can rely on to deliver the extensive legal knowledge they need.

“Brian's vision of a legal library “Collections and Connections” transformed the Stinson law library from a physical cul-de-sac destination into a more relevant knowledge portal for the firm's lawyers,” states Tony Saadat, CEO of Soutron Global. “By partnering with Soutron, Brian was able
