We hold 10 camps every year to get kids living with hair loss due to the autoimmune hair loss disease, alopecia. It's important that they and their family attend these camps that work magic in changing the emphasis from growing hair to growing confidence. It continues as we continue to different speakers and activities until we are building self-esteem, providing support, and trying to raise as much awareness as possible.

“

You are more even if your hair is less. It's not my CAP, it's our CAP and we all wear it”

The Children's Alopecia Project made a tremendous difference for our family. My daughter showed up to camp wearing a wig, and she felt like the outsider WITH hair. She took her wig off that day, June 9th, 2018, and never looked back. The confidence, pride, and support came, and continues to come, with the help of everyone a CAP. - Brandi McDonald, CAP Parent, Naples, FL

Charlie was so excited to share this book today. We read it as a whole class, including the last part with information, and had a wonderful discussion about alopecia. Charlie was brave and shared a lot with the class. Everyone was amazed by her bravery and strength, while still noting she is just a kid like everyone else. It was really special. Thank you so much for sharing the book. I think Charlie really enjoyed teaching the class and might just take over my job ;-)
