

HBS Systems' NetView ECO Named a BRP Certified DMS

BRP dealers will have real-time access to a full suite of integrated API functions available from BRP through HBS Systems' NetView software dealership software

RICHARDSON, TX, UNITED STATES, July 14, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HBS Systems, Inc., a leading provider of web-based dealership management systems and rental software, has been selected as a certified dealership management system by BRP.

Once completed, the integration of HBS Systems' flagship product, NetView ECO, with BRP will grant BRP dealers real-time access to a full suite of integrated API functions available from BRP through the NetView software.

NetView ECO will provide an intuitive program design that allows for easy user adoption to give BRP dealerships an advantage over the competition.

Our goal is to help our customers use technology that seamlessly works with BRP's Powersports vehicles, propulsion systems, and integration initiatives.”

Chad Stone, President and CEO, HBS Systems

Dealers can expect to enjoy technically sound and secure integration solutions, coupled with timely development and deployment of each feature and full technical support from HBS Systems' award-winning team of experienced industry specialists.

“We're thrilled to partner with BRP and look forward to a successful long-term partnership. Our goal is to help our customers use technology that works seamlessly with BRP's Powersports vehicles, propulsion systems, and their integration initiatives,” said Chad Stone, President CEO of HBS Systems. “This technology will allow dealerships to focus on serving their customers more efficiently and get them enjoying their new BRP Powersports vehicle more quickly.”
