Dr. Todd is eager to share his thoughts on “Drainage vs. Detoxification” at HEALCon. He says, “I am looking forward to sharing some insight with such a diverse audience. I hope this can amplify the good work that they do across the country in facilitating hope and health for themselves and their patients.”

When referring to his planned presentation, he says, “Some attendees may be surprised to learn that drainage and detoxification are indeed different. Regardless, they are both necessary to promote true wellness in the human body. Detox can only be effective if the drainage pathways are open and moving.”

At CellCore, Dr. Todd's team promotes the concept of the drainage funnel and the Roadmap to Health. He plans to outline both of these ideas in his presentation.

Dr. Todd adds, "Addressing health concerns in a specific order is essential for successful detoxification. There are specific protocols available that can be game-changers in this process for individuals who are struggling."

One of CellCore's core company values is to be "intentionally disruptive." Dr. Todd plans to shake up how the conference attendees view the path to detoxification and how essential it is to support the internal terrain to facilitate sustainable health.
