“Bob's voice is unique and his writing is special. That's why he was chosen from 1000 submissions to showcase for AnRGirl. He is awesome to work with and signing him to AnRGirl / IL Sistema Entertainment was a must for me! Artists like this don't come along too often. I see the magic and talent in him to go far and wide,” said Holly Hutchison, AnRGirl / IL Sistema Entertainment.

“Next Full Moon” was written during the pandemic when there wasn't much to do but watch Netflix. The inspiration came from his favorite show “Penny Dreadful” and is based on Josh Hartnett's character. The self-produced video for the song was his first time making a music video and was also inspired by the show and features Bob's transition to a werewolf complete with special effects. The video was directed by Rich Johnson of Spectacle Photo.
