About GETUS

Founded in November 2015 by CEO Tanner Gettis, GETUS is Canada's rising star as a low-cost, rocket-fast, coast-to-coast Internet Service Provider. The service operates through third party-internet-access, which is regulated wholesale access by the "Big Guys," the Canadian Government, and the CRTC (Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission). According to Gettis, the "Big Guys" are forced to allow Independents to operate on the very same networks; networks that have been heavily subsidized through Governments grants and taxpayers at a reduced rate than retail – known as Wholesale allowing GETUS and other Independents to offer their own retail for similar services – such as Internet, TV, and Phone.

To date, the company has amassed hundreds to thousands of clients in almost every province in the country.
