Amy Boerger, Cummins Vice President and General Manager of North America history in the market," said Amy Boerger, Cummins Vice President and General Manager of North America. "We look forward to honoring the past and using it as inspiration for the future of Cummins and with ATHS."

Inventor and founder Clessie Cummins is an inductee of the American Trucking and Industry Leader (ATIL) Hall of Fame. An entrepreneur who improved on existing diesel engines, and created new diesel engine designs, Clessie was awarded 33 U.S. patents for his inventions, and set five world records for endurance and speed for trucks, buses, and race cars. You can find a plaque honoring Clessie in the ATIL Hall of Fame, located in the ATHS Home Office in Kansas City. "The Cummins vision for innovation and empowering success coupled with the passion of ATHS members to move history forward is invaluable to the future of enhancing ATHS member offerings and expanding its physical property. ATHS looks forward to unfolding what we can accomplish together," said Executive Director Laurence Gration.
