extraordinary City. The City of Art, Theater, Creativity, and more.....

"I really love New York City and the power of performance here. There is a magnetic energy that is quite difficult to find elsewhere, which is something every actor and performer wants to feel. I want to continue to perform, entertain, and teach about theatre. Serving as a teaching artist at Kidville, I am enthusiastic about introducing theatre and using it as a tool to internalize information".

Jenna's creative versatility knows no bounds and she has also performed solos of notable productions in New York City's most well-known Cabaret series Let's Broadway, which is performed at the iconic West End Lounge venue.

Catch her in her next performance in NYC where she will continue to perform in New York City's most well-known Cabaret series Let's Broadway.
