"As a top custom sign company, our customers often turn first the Internet to learn more about our signage services in Sydney, Melbourne, and - indeed - nationwide," explains Alexandre Andrighetti, Customer Service Manager at the company. "Interested persons can check out the new information pages, and reach out to our signwriters for a custom sign quote."

Business customers who want to learn more can visit not only the homepage at <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/>. From there, they can visit key, sector-specific pages such as the following.

- * Neon Signs - <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/neon-signs/>
- * Reception Signage - <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/reception-signs/>
- * Car Wrap - <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/car-wrap/>
- * Frosted Window Film - <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/frost-window-film/>
- * Building Signage - <https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/building-signage/>

The new website concept is to have extremely detailed, sector-, technology-, or product-specific information pages. For instance, the page on CNC Router Cutting (<https://www.platinumsigns.com.au/cnc-router-cutting/>) explains that the company has large scale fabrication capacity not just for signs but for other items manufactured through this innovative technology. Thus, the company can easily create custom signage in a cost-effective process. A computer numerical control (CNC) router is a computer-controlled cutting machine which typically mounts a hand-held router as a spindle which is used for cutting various materials, such as wood, composites, aluminium, steel, plastics, glass, and foams. Throughout the website, users are encouraged to reach out and contact the sign writers and experts at the company for a custom quotation.
