'Love'n Life' encapsulates all my native languages: French, Ewe and English. The combination of these languages in a way expresses who I am.”

through their music with liting familiarity. “I’m honored for the opportunity to continue working with these two”, Lanyo said. “They connect the dots of my musical imagery, gathering individual fragments and molding them into completed work!”

This EP brings together these previously created works with new sounds, one of those reflected in his song 'Pour Toujours'. Lanyo shares “This song is a beat my producer had already made; he shared it with me, and I really liked it

Lanyo's particular sound reflects a unique skill set that continues to impress. "You can connect with my music in different ways", states Joseph, adding that "You can listen to it and dance, or you can turn it on in the car and just vibe to it."
