There First™ - every time.”, said Charlotte Baker, CEO of Digital Hands.

For Digital Hands, the ability to attract top talent is attributed to its inclusive and collaborative culture with innovation and customer excellence at its core. The survey revealed that 98% of Digital Hands employees feel that the senior leaders of the organization value people as their most important resource, illustrating Digital Hands’ commitment to building a highly engaged workforce that promotes opportunities for learning and career growth. Another key reason for Digital Hands’ high ranking is the company’s ability to foster a flexible work environment where employees can thrive in their careers and at-home lives despite the unique challenges brought by the pandemic. “The work we do allows businesses to thrive and survive, from automotive companies to hospitals, knowing we are protecting them from malicious actors in a way that has a direct impact on the lives of everyday people is incredibly motivating. Our team is made up of some of the smartest people, hardcore problem solvers who are passionate about what they do but also love to have fun and appreciate each other. As a single parent, I appreciate the flexibility and work-life balance that the company provides.”, said an employee in the anonymous Best Places to Work survey.

The Digital Hands team accepted our 2022 Best Places to Work award and celebrated with a victory lap of the bases.

Digital Hands employees enjoy competitive financial rewards, comprehensive benefits, training opportunities, personal skills development, and consideration for professional advancement across the entire organization. Beyond these employee benefits, Digital Hands perks include a generous company matching 401(k), year-round wellness events and incentives, service bonus days off, and paid paternity and maternity leave. Employees may work remotely or work from the company’s state-of-the-art security operations facilities in prime locations.

In the past, Digital Hands has received the Florida Governor's Award for high-value job creation, numerous technology industry awards for service excellence and innovation, and community awards for charitable support. Digital Hands is continually extending its technological platforms and developing new capabilities for exciting opportunities to best defend against emerging cyber threats.
