HONG KONG, April 29, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- UCOLLEX, an innovative platform that sells unique and limited edition NFT is delighted to announce its initiative with the charity program FREEDOM BOXES to provide aid to the refugees fleeing the war-torn country of Ukraine.

From the beginning of the war until mid-April, it is known that 2,104 people have been killed, including 205 children. The U.N. has stated that “another Ukrainian child is becoming a refugee nearly every second, and that more than one of every two Ukrainian children are now displaced.” As time goes on and the war continues, humanitarian needs are increasing, and messages of hope have never been this needed.

It breaks our hearts to see the events unfolding in Ukraine; this is our way of helping Ukrainians in their noble struggle, and to deliver help & provide hope where it is needed most.”

The initiative consists of launching 1,100 NFTs of children’s colorful illustrations and letters of hope for families who are victims of war in Ukraine, as well as photos of refugees at the border taken by Freedom Boxes’ volunteers. Proceeds from the sales will finance the purchase of Freedom Boxes filled with a variety of items ranging from medicine, food, bedding, and hygiene products to books and toys for children. In addition, each box will also include information about how to access free legal services in Ukraine. The program consists of launching 1,100 NFTs of children’s colorful illustrations and letters of hope for families who are victims of war in Ukraine. They also include photos taken by Freedom Boxes’ volunteers who are risking their lives to ensure the delivery of these essential items.

“It breaks our hearts to see the events unfolding in Ukraine; this is our way of helping Ukrainians in their noble struggle, and to deliver help & provide hope where it is needed most.”, says FREEDOMBOXES’ team.
