

Walt Disney World Joins Orange County: Crisis or Opportunity

*Walt Disney World Joins Orange County: Crisis or Opportunity?
Governor's Actions Highlight the Need for Business Experience*

ORLANDO, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, April 29, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "Let's make Orange County the most magical place on Earth," Chris Messina explained, summarizing his response to the proposed dissolution of Walt Disney World's Reedy Creek Improvement District. "This is an opportunity to raise the quality of Orange County's services and infrastructure to Disney's high standards, not an excuse for more wasteful spending."

On Friday, Orange County Mayoral Candidate Chris Messina addressed the Walt Disney World controversy: "We don't know how the dissolution of Walt Disney World's Reedy Creek Improvement District will fully play out but we know that Governor DeSantis has a well-thought through plan that my team stands ready to implement. "

Chris explained that his top priority will be to ensure that Orange County taxpayers will not lose a penny as a result of the dissolution. "We should be planning for the transition now. Walt Disney World isn't just a bunch of liabilities; it's extremely valuable assets too, so there's no reason that Orange County taxpayers should suffer as a result of the merger. Mayor Demings' loose talk about an impending

financial disaster is yet more evidence that we need an experienced business person in charge: it should be impossible to lose money on Walt Disney World, but - somehow - he's already planning to do so."

The Mayor's government-first approach is the antithesis of his "believe the science" rhetoric because science clearly proves that the government is always a high-cost, low-quality provider. "Of course the Mayor can't run Walt Disney World as efficiently as Walt Disney can," Chris added, "so perhaps that's why he's already planning on losing a fortune. Meanwhile, he wants a government takeover of transportation, so - as studies demonstrate - he can raise the cost of transit by 30% or more by switching us to a high-cost, low-quality service. It's his government-first mentality that's driving inflation to record highs, and we need to stop it - here and now."

"Ask anyone what Mayor Demings does well, and even his friends won't say, 'He cuts costs,' because Mayor Demings can't cut costs - he's spent his entire career in government, so he simply has no experience whatsoever with cost cutting," Chris concluded.
