The unit, which also serves as a convection oven, pizza oven, grill, and dehydrator, has become one of the most innovative countertop appliances on the market

HOUSTON, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, May 2, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Equator Appliances is now offering an all-in-one Air Fryer that can replace virtually all other countertop appliances. Functioning as the ultimate all-in-one kitchen appliance, users can enjoy the features of an air fryer, grill, convection oven, pizza oven, and dehydrator. The unit effectively replaces single and dual-use appliances for an optimum experience.

“The Equator AF500 Air Fryer is the last all-in-one countertop appliance you'll ever need,” said Nick Mathews, of Equator Advanced Appliances. “We designed this air fryer to have 15 one-push cooking functions, essential accessories, and an array of other handy features.”

Two key components that give this air fryer its capabilities are its 360 degree air circulation and dual heating elements. The 360 degree air circulation is created thanks to a powerful, built-in fan that rapidly circulates air. When using the air fryer functionality, this ensures even heating, and a crisp texture — without the need for oil or fat. Dual heating elements — placed on the top and bottom — rapidly heat food, ensuring fast cook times.

The Equator AF500 Air Fryer is also price-conscious, suited to almost any budget. It retail starts from an interesting price point for mere $229, which is competitive with air fryers that have far fewer functions.
