

Numly Launches Next Cohort of its Flagship “Leadership Development Program” Focused on Women Leaders

Numly Launches “Championing Women Leaders” Coaching Program for Women Leaders

BELLEVUE, WA, USA, May 4, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The COVID-19 pandemic has impacted the demographics of our workplace significantly. Men are entering the job market in droves despite the pandemic and a slow recovery. Women are not.

The latest U.S. Bureau of Labor

Statistics Report shows that from February 2020 to January 2022, male workers regained all jobs they had lost during the COVID-19 crisis, but during the same time period, 1.1 million women left the workforce and haven’t returned.

Numly’s Women Leadership Program is designed for active women leaders who aspire to build a skill set that prepares them for higher levels of leadership, including C-Suite positions.”

It has been clear that the challenges introduced by the pandemic affected women disproportionately, partly because women are often still the primary caregivers. Research shows that organizations now risk losing women at all levels of management and with it, risk losing future women leaders. It’s time that companies make it a priority to create a more equitable and empathetic workforce. If we want women to occupy more seats at the table, we must create opportunities and provide access for women to overcome barriers and biases. With more women managers in mentoring positions, we can build the right career pathing initiatives that drive diversity and promote equity across the enterprise.

Focused on Women Leaders, Numly is proud to announce today, its next cohort of its Online Leadership Coaching Program, slated to begin on May 23, 2022.
