/EINPresswire.com/ -- PTTGSP, a major operator in Thailand for the separation of various hydrocarbon components of natural gas, has selected Antea's asset integrity management (AIM) software in collaboration with Qualitech for the digital transformation and mechanical integrity of its facilities. PTTGSP sought a reliable AIM provider with robust risk based inspection (RBI) and integrity operating windows (IOW) solutions to manage the integrity of its facilities, which boast a combined 2,870 MMscfd in processing capacity. The software will also be utilized to manage inspection data management of the company's waste water treatment plant, CWWTP.

Antea's AIM software was selected as the most suitable due to its technically advanced solution, competitive pricing, flexible platform, and capacity for configuration according to the client's requirements. This project will help to expedite the digitalization of plants and facilities in the area while providing users and operators digital access to organized data for easy visualization of the health of their assets.
