Strategy Officer, Appraisal
Logistics*

In her new role, she will maintain a 360-degree view of the company, direct product and services innovation that impact the company's current lender clients, their borrowers, valuation professionals and the industry as a whole.

“Liz has worked for some of the leading companies in the space and has supported the industry through her work with the trade associations. That's the kind of experience we want in a Chief Strategy Officer,” said Frank Danna, Co-Founder and CEO of Appraisal Logistic Solutions, Inc. “She's an industry software product professional who understands sales, marketing, and operations. She's going to make a perfect addition to our management team.”

Previously, Green served as Chief Data & Product Solutions Officer for LoanLogics. Before that she was President of Centric Technologies, a hosted-technology solution for DIY appraisal quality review for residential real estate appraisal. Earlier in her career she was the Director of Strategic Technology Solutions for Supreme Lending, Director of Valuation Technologies for ACI (now First American), Vice-President of New Product Development for Solidifi, and Vice-President of Valuation Services & Product Development for Basis100.

Green has served the industry as a volunteer for a number of organizations including ECCMA, where she served as Chair of the Property Standards committee; the Open Geospatial

Consortium; MISMO, where she has served for the last decade as Chair of the Property & Valuation Community of Practice; and the Collateral Risk Network, where she also currently serves as Chair of the Standards Committee. She is the recipient of an ECCMA Fellowship Award, a MISMO Staff Appreciation Award and is a Mortgage Banking Magazine Tech All Star.

“Appraisal Logistics is a nimble company with an entrepreneurial management team that brings both talent and vision,” Green said. “I am very impressed with the success they’ve achieved and their longevity in the industry. Frank and his partners embrace the opportunity to lead change and now is the time to do it. Their cloud native technology is well positioned for the industry’s coming changes and modernization efforts. I’m excited to become a part of the dynamic environment they have created. I’m delighted to join the company at such an exciting time.”
