Arizonans are working together to help the Ukrainians. Many Arizonans are looking for a way to help. We're asking for their support. Come out, bring your family. It will be an unforgettable night.”

Marcee Foster, Founder of REACH Humanity

A new 2022 Toyota vehicle is being raffled. Raffle tickets are $25, and the winner will have their choice of either a Toyota Prius, Camry, or RAV4. The raffle is made possible through a partnership with Reach Out Worldwide (ROWW), a non-profit formed by Paul Walker in 2010 of Fast and the Furious Fame. His brother, Cody Walker, is CEO of Reach Out Worldwide and an Arizona resident.

This fun, family event will feature entertainment, dancing, food trucks and a photo booth. An evening highlight will be a ballroom dance performance by former Ukrainian National Champions Inna Berlizyeva and Artem Plakhotnyi, owners of the Imperial Ballroom Dance Company in Scottsdale. Their sister-in-law is a Ukrainian refugee. Artem recently traveled to Poland, bringing her and her children back to live with them in Arizona.

“This event is a passion-project of Arizonans working together to help the Ukrainians,” said Marcee Foster, CEO of REACH Humanity. “We are so grateful for the generosity within our community, and know that many more Arizonans are looking for a way to help. We’re asking for their support. Come out, bring your family. It will be a great night supporting an even greater cause.”

REACH Humanity is a non-profit, volunteer organization based in Arizona. Their mission is to raise funds and awareness and then directly serve those impacted by war, natural disaster, political unrest, or extreme poverty. Their REACH Ukraine campaign has volunteers on the ground along the Ukrainian border directly helping refugees. Volunteers seek out refugees who are not being served by other organizations, helping them with suitcases to transport possessions, temporary housing, supplies, and finding them long-term placement throughout Europe.
