According to the barrier resins market report, increasing demand for the longer shelf life of food products is contributing to the growth of the market. There has been an increasing demand for food products with a longer shelf life. Barrier resins are used in the food and beverage packaging industry to protect packed goods from moisture and to prevent gas penetration. They provide enhanced shelf life, consistency, and prevent odor and UV rays from entering the container, thus protecting the vitamin content of the food. In 2020, UAE-based FMCG company, Truebell, saw a threefold increase in demand for long-shelf-life products. The company saw an increase in the popularity of long-shelf life food products and baking ingredients, along with an increase in the consumption of home-cooked meals. Thus, the growing demand for a longer shelf life of food products will drive the growth of the barrier resin market.
