solution in the Medics EHR with a seamless workflow at the point of ordering imaging studies, referring providers using the Medics EHR will be able to easily access and use ezCDS to consult the appropriateness of advanced imaging orders.

“We take pride in providing outstanding patient care at CCC, supported by high-end technology such as the Medics EHR that we've been using for almost 15 years. We are thrilled to add to our practice the advanced Cranberry Peak clinical decision support service, ezCDS. In particular, we are excited about the easy practical workflow for imaging appropriateness at the point of ordering for our radiology referral providers. We look forward to working with the teams at Cranberry Peak and ADS to implement the innovative ezCDS clinical decision support service and we are impressed by both companies' focus on their clients," said Elhami Dahhan, Practice Administrator at CCC.

Neculai Archip, Ph.D., MBA, and Founder and CEO of Cranberry Peak Corp., said, "We are grateful for the trust from practices such as CCC in our solution. Their team is impressive, with a technology forward looking outlook. After a straightforward integration process with the ADS team, our teams are working to ensure a smooth deployment to Connecticut Cardiology Center." Dr. Archip continues, "Practices such as CCC have the opportunity to create benchmarks for operational efficiency and clinical care and we look forward to working with both CCC and the ADS teams."

"Clients adopt our intelligent, rules engine-driven clinical, revenue cycle, and operational solutions to empower them to be as financially successful and efficient as possible. Our systems' high-end features and capabilities are enhanced when integrating solutions such as Cranberry Peak's ezCDS with our Medics EHR. The ADS team looks forward to CCC – and so many other clients – accessing ezCDS through their Medics EHRs," said David Barzillai, President of ADS.
