

USCIS Releases New Regional Center Application Form, EB5AN to Discuss Approval Strategies in May 16 Webinar

WASHINGTON, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, May 13, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) has released the much-awaited new application form for EB-5 regional centers. Form I-526 and instructions are now available for download on the USCIS web site. EB-5 industry participants have been in limbo since the agency announced two weeks ago that previously approved regional centers are no longer authorized.

"The announcement by USCIS that hundreds of regional centers are now defunct and everyone has to apply again was an earth-shaking event for immigrant investors and regional centers," said Sam Silverman, managing partner of EB5 Affiliate Network (EB5AN), a leading EB-5 investment fund manager, regional center operator, and consultancy. "We've been waiting for details about the application requirement, process, and cost."

USCIS surprised many with its interpretation of the EB-5 Reform and Integrity Act of 2022, which it claims repealed the old regional center program and requires companies to apply again for regional center designation. Despite a bipartisan letter from Congressional leaders clarifying the legislative branch's intent and a barrage of lawsuits, USCIS is moving ahead with its previously announced policy.

"Many EB-5 industry participants hoped for a different outcome, but we must respect the decision of USCIS and adapt to this new reality. There is an opportunity here to begin anew, but companies wanting to become regional centers will need expert guidance to navigate this complex regulatory environment," added Silverman.

EB5AN will host a webinar on Monday, May 16, 2022, at 12:00 PM EDT to discuss the impacts of recent USCIS policy announcements and discuss strategies for I-956 approval. The webinar will be hosted by Silverman and Mike Schoenfeld, managing partner of EB5AN, and top immigration attorney Ronald Klasko. The panel of EB-5 experts will
