

2022 SC Awards Finalists Announced

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, May 16, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Cybersecurity business intelligence company CyberRisk Alliance and its flagship brand SC Media announced the finalists for the 2022 SC Awards. Now in its 25th year, the SC Awards are cybersecurity's most prestigious and competitive program, recognizing the solutions, organizations, and people driving innovation and success in information security.

The 2022 SC Awards were the most competitive to date, with a record 800 entries received across 38 categories - a 21% increase over 2021. This year, SC Awards expanded its recognition program to include several new award categories that reflect the shifting dynamics and emerging industry trends. The new Trust Award categories recognize solutions in cloud, data security, managed detection and more. The expanded Excellence Award categories opened participation to startups, as well as the investors and financial partners supporting their success.

Entries for the Trust and Excellence Awards were judged by a world-class panel of industry leaders, from sectors including healthcare, financial services, manufacturing, consulting, and education, among others.

"The solutions represented by our finalists reflect astonishing levels of innovation across the information security industry, and underscore vendor resilience and responsiveness to a rapidly evolving threat landscape," said Jill Aitoro, Senior Vice President of Content Strategy at CyberRisk Alliance. "We are so proud to recognize leading products, people and companies through a trusted program that continues to attract both new entrants and industry mainstays that come back year after year."
