NEW YORK (May 16, 2022) – Industry leaders from 88 countries were back to business in full-force at the world's largest aviation MRO event, Aviation Week Network's 27th Annual MRO Americas (#MROAM). The event was held April 26-28 in Dallas, Texas and attracted more than 14,100 registered attendees, 809 solutions providers in the sold-out exhibition hall, and more than 1400 representatives from airlines and lessors.

The demand for the 2023 MRO Americas, which will be held in Atlanta, GA, April 18-20, was stronger than ever with exhibition space already 77% sold out. Each day the event featured scores of contract signings, agreements, Memorandums of Understanding, and product launches.

The event was co-located with Military Aviation, Logistics and Maintenance Symposium (MALMS), April 27-28, which attracted strong crowds and sold-out exhibition space in the Military Pavilion.

The MRO Americas and MALMS conference symposium featured top level speakers dedicated to providing attendees with insight on issues facing the industry. The event also featured a number of complimentary sessions including the Go Live! Theater taking place on the exhibition floor and hosted sessions. Additional events include the Aerospace Maintenance Competition, celebrating aviation technicians; and A-WING job fAIR, a non-profit organization established to inspire the next generation of women in aviation.

The outpouring of excitement from the attendees, exhibitors and sponsors was visible and for many it was the first opportunity to meet their industry colleagues in person," said Lydia Janow, Sr. Vice President of Events for Aviation Week Network. "The number of deals and agreements announced during the event was unprecedented."

MRO Americas Platinum Sponsors were: Airbus, Chromalloy, GE Aviation, HEICO, Lufthansa Technik, MRO Holdings, MTU Maintenance, Pratt & Whitney, Safran, Salesforce, StandardAero, Triumph Group, and United Technical Operations.
