One can easily brag about how he has showcased her music on his channels, how she has performed at countless private events, corporate parties, Alpha Kappa Alpha Debutante Balls, the NAACP Eastern Chapter Banque or Pixar Studio’s XV Annual Pacific Voice Conference, but to fully understand her as an artist, her struggle and story is what makes her such a big source of inspiration and success.

Surviving her entire life with a brain

tumor, she never let her disease dictate her life, and while most people would have been reluctant to follow their dreams, Krys K used her physical struggles to push herself to achieve her dreams even more. From writing and releasing her own music to creating books of poetry, and even writing and producing her own stage plays, Krys K has been a force that refuses to let life get the best of her. As a devoted mother of two children, she ensures that she is making time for her own ambitions while focusing on being a mother to her two young ones.

A testament to her ingenuity, hard work, and mastery in hip hop lyricism and rhythmic hooks is the fact that multi-platinum artist and songwriter Ne-Yo recently took notice of her music on social media. Having worldwide success and being a widely recognized pop artist who has sold millions of albums himself, the fact that Ne-Yo chose to give her the spotlight on his social media is a huge deal for Krys K, who is garnering fame for her latest release titled ‘Let’s Go’. With the release of this single, Krys is actively trying to make it clear that she is not afraid to be controversial and talk about life from the perspective of a wife.
