processing among others. For its university related compliance, Micconope 1851 has chosen Athliance. Athliance provides player deal submission electronically to FSU’s athletic department whereby ensuring Micconope 1851 will maintain compliance throughout the life cycle of all deals.

On this announcement of these strategic partnerships,

Micconope 1851 co-founder Mike Underwood says, “When we embarked on building Micconope 1851, we were determined to do it the right way. Without hesitation I can say that Thomas Thomas Jr. of Basepath and Peter Schoenthal of Athliance were the perfect partners to help us set the standard for collectives in the NIL space.” Adds co-founder James Coleman. “The biggest thing for today’s athlete is ease of use. These two software packages allow our athletes and sponsors alike to log in and track everything about the NIL process in a convenient and efficient manner. This will be key in making sure you don’t get in a bad spot with NIL enforcement.” Underwood concludes, “Micconope 1851 has raised the bar when it comes to compliance in this new NIL environment. Basepath and Athliance have bolstered our reputation in the eyes of our student-athletes and FSU’s athletic department without question. And an incredible surprise benefit, our current and prospective sponsors have expressed an even greater comfort level when collaborating with Micconope 1851.”
