713 Navesink River Road | Red Bank, NJ
Bid Now–May 19
Current High Bid: $3.3M.

713 Navesink River Road

The Retreat at Lick Creek Lodge

Just a forty-minute commute from Manhattan, the elegance and luxury of decades past is calling from this Navesink River estate. Built in 1927, this 9,000± square foot Colonial Revival has been restored to its original grandeur, with ample upgrades for modern comfort and convenience. Currently listed for $7.999 million, the property will sell No Reserve to the highest bidder regardless of the price, in cooperation with Kerrin O'Brien of O'Brien Realty LLC.

On par with some of the finest Long Island & Newport Gold Coast mansions of the early 20th century, this estate is among the most remarkable homes in the NJ/NY/CT area, with Hamptons-like living year-round, a 40-minute commute to Manhattan, and picturesque grounds. The home was originally designed by New York City Architect, Arthur C. Jackson. Jackson studied in Paris and graduated from the École des Beaux-Arts, which surely inspired his design of the beautiful and classic 713 Navesink River Road. Architect Arthur C. Jackson was known not only for his work and design in the city, but also of private, country homes outside of Manhattan.

3825 Ocean Drive

La Mansion

The spectacular mansion cannot be missed, with its custom heated pool and stone pool deck tucked discreetly to the side. Beyond the grand home awaits fruit orchards and a boutique vineyard; the estate's grapes have proven their merit in wines that have won medals in international competitions. Indoors, discover more at every turn: soaring ceilings and vast windows bathe the spaces in natural light. The curved grand staircase, eight ornate fireplaces, private balconies, and craftsmanship, quality, and woodworking details that would be almost impossible to recreate today, all within a truly welcoming atmosphere.

The Retreat at Lick Creek Lodge | Near Austin, TX
Bid May 25–31

Currently Listed for $13.5M. No Reserve.

Seated on a peninsula overlooking the Pedernales River, the estate offers a view of the river and verdant Texas Hill Country surrounding. Currently listed for $13.5 million, the property will sell No Reserve to the highest bidder regardless of the price, in cooperation with Susan Barringer of Kuper Sotheby's International Realty.

The architecture is a true work of art by famed Austin architect John Covert Watson. John studied organic architecture and had the honor of working alongside Frank Lloyd Wright. Many of his designs are intended to blend into the surrounding setting. The design of the retreat makes an iconic visual statement, appearing from aerial view to resemble natural layered rocks splayed out across the lush Hill Country.

The Mond: 5104 Caroline Street

Inside 4002 Tyx Trail you will find grand expanses of glass, locally-harvested wood, towering steel beams, and a distinctive hyperbolic paraboloid roof. The guest lodge welcomes you to the estate, with a winding path through the natural landscape ending at the main residence. Throughout, a careful balance between grand entertaining spaces intended for crowds of any size, and intimate enclaves for smaller gatherings ensure the estate is well-suited for use as an executive retreat or personal getaway.
