

NONPROFIT SHOES THAT FIT AND DENVER BRONCO COURTLAND SUTTON TEAM UP TO HELP KIDS IN NEED

DENVER, COLORADO, UNITED STATES, May 17, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nonprofit Shoes That Fit is thrilled to announce they have received a generous 25K donation in the form of Adidas shoes from wide receiver Courtland Sutton of the Denver Broncos.

Brand new Adidas shoes were provided for the entire student body of 254 kids at the Center for Talent Development in Denver. The remaining shoes will be distributed by Shoes That Fit to kids in need nationally.

This is not the first time Courtland has helped the school. He donated 100 pairs of shoes back in 2019 along with Snooze, an A.M. Eatery, and participated in a measuring day at the school with the kids.

Currently, 1 in 3 American children lives in a low-income family. Shoes That Fit helps children in thousands of schools across America by providing brand new, brand name athletic shoes. For kids, a new pair of shoes improves their self-esteem and participation at school by eliminating one of poverty's most visible and debilitating marks. With over 2.4 million pairs of new shoes and other necessities have been raised to date, Shoes That Fit is uniquely efficient and effective in their life-changing operations

"Shoes are one of the most expensive items for low-income families to provide. When families must choose between putting food on the table or buying new shoes for school, you can imagine that food wins every time. The simple gift of a pair of shoes can increase a child's confidence, attendance and performance at school, and we are so thankful that Courtland Sutton is taking the time to make such a positive impact on these kids."
