

Terminal Tractor Market Size Is Poised To Expand 1.4x By 2030; On The Back Of Significant Infrastructure Modernizations

the terminal tractor market will witness an upward trend, owing to rising shipment of material and related logistical activities in automotive industries.

ROCKVILLE, MARYLAND, UNITED STATES, May 18, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The terminal tractor market size is poised to expand 1.4X in terms of value, at a CAGR of 3.3% during the forecast period of 2020-2030. Terminal tractors are specifically designed to be used at terminals, ports, distribution centers, and several other industrial applications that enhance the efficiency of the movement of goods.

However, economic shutdown has led to supply shortages as the COVID-19 pandemic is taking a toll on the global movement of goods, from wholesale distribution to retail stores, and the manufacturing industry to the logistics industry. As a result, container movement in several countries across the world has decreased, resulting in declining sales of terminal tractors.
